Employee
ResponsibilitiesIntroduction

This manual section includes subjects intended to notify employees of special conduct requirements unique to the Laboratory. Failure to comply with these requirements may result in discipline, up to and including termination. The absence of a specific prohibition on conduct does not waive the right of the Laboratory to insist on appropriate conduct or to discipline. That is, conduct involving action adverse to the legitimate interests of the Laboratory common to most employment situations (for example, theft, lying, absenteeism, inappropriate dress, or wasting employer resources) may result in discipline, up to and including termination, even though such conduct is not expressly described and prohibited in this section.
